HONEYWELL NAMES BRIAND GREER PRESIDENT, SOUTHEAST ASIA

Kuala Lumpur, February 15, 2016 – Honeywell (NYSE: HON) today announced the appointment of Briand Greer as President, Southeast Asia, succeeding Jim Bujold, who will relocate to the United States to lead the evaluation of a significant commercial opportunity for Honeywell.

“I am grateful for Jim’s significant contribution to Honeywell’s High Growth Region strategy and the leadership he has provided as we’ve entered and grown in many of these new markets,” said Shane Tedjarati, president of Global High Growth Regions. “Briand will build on this foundation and lead our outstanding team to continue to grow and establish Honeywell’s products, technologies, and brand name in Singapore, Malaysia, Thailand, and the Philippines, and throughout this fast growing region. The macro trends here align well with Honeywell’s vast portfolio of technologies and services and offer tremendous growth potential across the company. I am confident that Briand will leverage these trends and lead our organization to even greater heights.”

Prior to this role, Greer was President of Honeywell Aerospace, Asia Pacific, responsible for all aspects of Aerospace businesses in the region. Under Greer’s leadership, Honeywell Aerospace achieved significant business growth above average GDP (gross domestic product) growth across the region and further enhanced key customer relationships with the Commercial Aircraft Corporation of China, Ltd. (COMAC), Aviation Industry Corporation of China (AVIC), and others, assuring both near- and long-term success.

Greer has more than 20 years of experience in the aerospace industry, including more than 13 years as a leader in both the commercial and Defense & Space businesses at Honeywell. Prior to joining Honeywell in 2002, he was co-founder and President of Aerospace Hardware Exchange (AHX), the world's first online trading marketplace for aerospace commodities. He was also Director of Worldwide Distribution for Fairchild Fasteners Inc. and Director of International Business Development for UNC, an aviation technology, maintenance and services company.

Greer holds a bachelor's degree in Political Science & International Affairs from the United States Naval Academy, and an MBA in International Business from Duke University.
