

HONEYWELL SECURITY GROUP RANKS NO.1 AGAIN in A&S SECURITY TOP 50

As a true industrial leader, it will step up efforts to expand presence in Vietnam market

HANOI, March 3, 2014 – Honeywell Security Group ranked No. 1 in the prestigious A&S 2013 Security Top 50, with which the company has further strengthened its proven leadership in the industry. The company has won this award multiple times for the record in history.

Since the day Honeywell was established, the company has never wavered from its goal of developing leading edge security technology that has shaped today's residential and commercial security systems. Honeywell is now on the forefront of IP surveillance technologies, advanced access control and alarm systems as well as state-of-the-art smart phone solutions to address today's security challenge.

“We have specialized expertise in specific industries to understand unique customer needs by providing them the most suitable solutions,” said Jeffery Sit, newly-appointed vice president and general manager of Honeywell Security Asia Pacific. “In Vietnam, we continue to strengthen our foothold in key vertical sectors such as banking and finance, commercial as well as resident projects. With offices in Ho Chi Minh city and Hanoi, we are committed to provide best-in-class local services to our customers and stay close to Vietnam security market.”

Previously a regional sales director with Honeywell, Sit assumed his new role on February 28 to replace Mabel Ng who was recently named vice president and general manager for Asia Pacific for the company's Environmental and Combustion Controls business unit. Sit will lead Honeywell Security Asia Pacific as it continues to serve the region's vibrant, high-growth economies. His appointment emphasizes the consistency of Honeywell Security Group's strategy in Asia Pacific to further innovate and create increased value for customers.

The annual A&S Security Top 50 ranking is built upon the pure product sales of the previous year, highlighting top 50 achievers in the physical, electronic security industry. The Top 50 leaders for 2013 contributed to approximately 68 percent of the world's hardware and software sales in 2012, with an average revenue growth rate of 12.3 percent. These 50 companies have not only achieved remarkable revenue and profit growth, but also made headway in their focused markets technologies and partnerships. They are industry leaders who showed they have what it takes to weather the storm, ride the wave and set the trend.

Embracing a wide range of solutions across video surveillance, access control, intrusion detection and home system, Honeywell Security Group protects millions of properties and homes worldwide by providing diversified and innovative security products. The Group invests over $70 million a year in research and development. As a leading global supplier of electronic security products and systems, Honeywell Security Group boasts a solid base of customers ranging from commercial to industrial sectors in Asia Pacific.
